Everyday farmers achieving greatness

The men and women who win these awards are simply ordinary farmers doing extraordinary things.

They may have very different and diverse businesses, but they all share common traits that set them apart – innovation, commitment, professionalism, adaptability and market-focus to name but a few.

Do you know someone who should join the growing gallery of more than 150 winners in the Farmers Weekly Awards, or perhaps that person should be you?

“I’m looking for qualities in a farm adviser that extend beyond the immediately obvious ones; it’s not just their contribution to their own business that matters but also how it benefits others and also the wider industry they’re involved with”
