

THREE GAIN OV STATUS IN TUBERCULIN TESTING

A TRIO of vets from Devon-based Penbode Vets – from left: Richard Talbot, Lauren Medland and Sarah Phillipot – have been the first to complete the new OCQ(N) in Tuberculin Testing (TT) and have been awarded full OV status. The new OV training has been developed by Improve International in conjunction with the European School of Veterinary Postgraduate Studies and Harper Adams University. Improve was appointed to handle OV registration and training in England, Scotland and Wales by the Animal and Plant Health Agency (APHA). The new OV registration and training website, www.improve-ov.com, contains details of the new process and the new OVQ(N) qualification.
